Why offer workplace giving?

It is one of the single most powerful acts you can do to help impact youth wellbeing and engagement through early intervention mentoring programs in schools and communities around Australia. Your contribution will ensure young people feel heard, valued and supported and learn the skills to become more resilient, capable and connected.

The regular financial contributions from workplace giving make a greater difference to the young people of Australia because they provide certainty which allows Raise Foundation to plan into the future.

How does it work?

Workplace giving is an excellent way to show support for your employees' charitable giving. It's also a great way for you to demonstrate commitment to the causes your employees care about. It can also:

- Boost staff morale and motivation, aiding retention and recruitment of staff
- Enhance your company's charitable giving with little effort or cost to you
- Enhance your organisation's corporate social responsibility and community programs
- Allow you to monitor the level of charitable giving your company has achieved

How to make it happen

Raise Foundation will provide all the information and content you require to facilitate workplace giving through your existing platform.

If you are new to workplace giving, no problem! Here are some tips on establishing a successful workplace giving program:

Engage senior leadership support to support the Workplace giving program

- Allocate internal resources to coordinate program development and launch
- Decide whether your business will match employee donations
- Contact one of the following organisations who can facilitate a seamless, transparent and reliable workplace giving platform:

The power of matching

To truly leverage the value of employees coming together to support causes they are passionate about, we encourage your company to consider matching all or some of your employee's workplace giving donations if you don't already do so.

Why young Australians need your support

The challenges facing young people today are resulting in extremely poor outcomes for too many of them:

1 in 4 young Australians say they are unhappy with their lives

Suicide is the number one cause of death for our young people

Only 32% will seek help from the School Counsellor

1 in 4 young Australians have a mental health condition

1 in 10 young people are completely disengaged from education, employment and training

This is not OK. It is within our power to do something about this.

By including Raise Foundation on your workplace giving platform you can help the communities in which your employees work and live to thrive by supporting programs which positively impact the wellbeing and engagement of young people at risk.
